

NEW YORK CITY
CHAPTER MEETING

The Education and Training Committee presents:

EAP Internal and External Models:
Current trends and future possibilities

Topics addressed in the presentation:

- Contrasts and similarities between the internal and external model
- Where is the field heading?

date: Tuesday, January 29, 2008

(NOTE: This is the FIFTH Tuesday in January)

time: 1:00–1:15PM Registration and networking
1:15–1:30PM Introduction of all members present
1:30–3:30PM Presentation of training

(Refreshments provided by Gracie Square)

site: Gracie Square Hospital: First Floor Conference Room
420 East 76th Street (between First and York Avenues)
New York City

(Subway: #6 train to 77th Street)

Presenters:

Joseph Goldfield, LCSW-R, received his MSW from UC Berkeley and has been practicing solution-focused short-term treatment in private practice for 18 years. He has been in the EAP field for 14 years, as an EAP clinician, consultant, and trainer. He has served as a faculty member of Fordham University School of Social Work, the University of Illinois School of Medicine, and Brookdale Center on Aging Certificate Program on Gerontology. In addition to writing journal articles on strengths- and brief-based practices, he is co-author (with J Roach) of the award-winning book Mental Wellness in Aging: Strengths-Based Approaches. Currently he is an EAP consultant with HRI and maintains a private practice.

Stephen A. Garnham, MEd, CAC/CEAP/SAP, counselor, Amtrak Employee Assistance Program. Steve has more 20 years' experience in the substance abuse treatment field and has been a Certified Employee Assistance Professional since 1997. Before joining Amtrak in 2005, he was an EAP/Peer counselor for the Philadelphia Police Department, a counselor/clinical supervisor for the US Postal Service Joint Labor-Management EAP in Philadelphia, and Senior Manager, EAP, for Curo Aeger, LLC, in Exton, PA. He is an adjunct faculty member at Alvernia College, Philadelphia, PA and Camden County College, Camden, NJ.

Application has been submitted to EACC for 2 PDHs, which will be provided after the presentation.